

Research stays with the Procivis Think Tank

The Procivis Think Tank on Technology & Democracy offers a program to support Master and PhD students in their research. Located at the world's largest blockchain co-working space, Trust Square, the Think Tank offers access to a vibrant ecosystem of technology experts, business cases and applications. The Think Tank is looking for students with an excellent academic track record who are focusing on how technology impacts the relationship between citizens and their government.

The collaboration is based on the following principles:

- The topic and terms of the collaboration are agreed between the Think Tank, the student, the student's supervisor and the university.
- Research stays between 2 weeks and 3 months, depending on the requirements of the project.
- The Think Tank provides desk space and facilitates access for the student to the Trust Square ecosystem as well as its entire network of stakeholders.
- The results of the research are also made available to the Think Tank and presented at one of its meetings.

A non-exclusive list of topics the Think Tank is currently interested in:

- Participatory budgeting
- Liquid democracy
- Comparative studies on the implementation of digital identity
- Open Data/ Data-driven government
