

Project-based mandates for clients

The Procivis Think Tank on Technology & Democracy offers its clients access to a vibrant and fast-moving ecosystem of technology experts and applied use cases. Located at the world's largest blockchain co-working space, Trust Square, and with a large network of industry and academic partners, the Think Tank is uniquely positioned at the intersection private sector, public sector and academia.

Project-based mandates around the topic of how technology impacts the relationship between citizens and their government can take a variety of forms:

- Consultancy services to government agencies or government service providers
- Joint events
- Topic-based research and/or workshops
- Introduction of project partners within the Think Tank's extensive network
